

I was recently informed that you may be seeking to overturn the NJ Do Not Call List. I urge you to reconsider. I work hard during the day in a very stressful environment. Part of that stress is having to constantly deal with vendors, purchasing agents, solicitors, etc. When I am at home, I can escape them. With the current law in effect, I have been able to enjoy my time home with my family without worrying about who is on the other end of the phone when it rings. I am a firm believer that if I am interested in a product or service, I will seek it out on my own. I don't need, nor do I want, the intrusion of telemarketers calling me to sell me something that I don't want. In addition, without any protection from the fraudulent solicitors that are out there, this law at least provides me with some protection.

I fully support the New Jersey Do Not Call List and would urge you to not only uphold it, but to use it as a model for other states and even the Federal list (if one exists) so that people can free themselves to a large extent from the annoyances and intrusions of unwanted solicitation calls.

Thank you.
